

Guided Visit at KIT on the Energiewende Day

On the 2014 Baden-Württemberg Energiewende Days, KIT Offers Insight into Latest Research

The 2014 Baden-Württemberg Energiewende Days focus on renewable energies, reduction of energy consumption, energy efficiency, and climate protection. The KIT, one of the biggest European energy research institutions, will open its doors to the public and will present sustainable concepts for the use and production of energy. Interested citizens, pupils, and journalists are cordially invited and requested to register in advance. The guided visit will take place in the German language.
